

Sticker Design

Ideation

UNSW version of the IEEE sticker, its a bit clunky for my liking but like the general design of it.

We could do computer sticker variants but this wouldn't be for showing membership status (could just be an add-on to the sticker collection)

Simple and effective, could do this in multiple colours or different shades to differentiate membership with ordinary members!

Similar to AT's version of tertiary cards to indicate different class, we could also employ different shades to (once again) differentiate the regulars with the paid members.

Mock Up
